

EMILY DICKINSON

Poems

1890

IMPRESSIONS

*Hope is the thing with feathers
That perches in the soul,
And sings the tune without the words,
And never stops at all,*

— 254

28 August 2026

Note the comma at the end — the stanza doesn't close, it hands off. Line breaks in the quote: block are preserved, which is what you want for verse.
